We still think that we have elected Lindsay, and therefore made another gain, which would make the Senate a tie, even supposing Mr. Waddell take his seat. There can be no doubt that Berry is elected over Waddell in Orange. A mistake was made in counting the vote of Waddell of just one tally, five votes. Of course when this is demonstrated, as we learn it can be, Mr. Waddell would not, even with the accidental certificate of the Sheriff, attempt to by Mr. Lincoln, whig. FOREIGN NEWS-STATE OF IRELAND .- The steamer Acadia arrived at New York on Sunday evening last, having left Liverpool on the 29th ultimo. Her intelligence is chiefly interesting, so far as it relates to Irish affairs. The people of that unhappy country have been preparing for some time to make a final struggle to throw off the English yoke in the coming fall-so soon as the present crops would be harvested. Clubs have been organized all over Ireland, arms purchased, and the people have been drilled to warlike exercises. The English government, on the other hand, has not been inactive. The most stringent measures have been adopted to put down the outbreak. British troops have been pour ing into Ireland for the last six months. Re cently, however, things have assumed the aspect of coming to the final struggle. The patriot papers have been suppressed; a number of the Irish leaders have been arrested, and now we see that a reward of £500 is offered for the apprehension of Smith O'Brien. All Ireland, at the sailing of the Acadia, was in a terrible commotion, and an outbreak was hourly looked for. In the English House of Commons, on the 22d ultimo, Lord John Russell, the Premier, introduced a bill providing for the suspension of the Habeas Corpus act in the whole of Ireland. The Minister was sustained. The measure has been adopted; and now the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland can arrest and imprison, at his pleasure, any person whom he may suspect, until the 1st of March, 1849. This is an extreme measure, and shews that the times are indeed troublous. For our own part, we do not think there will be any serious struggle. The English government has taken strong measures, and is too well prepared to suppress by force any rising of the people.

England was quiet, and business matters were rather bright than otherwise. France is getting along very well. Paris was perfectly tranquil. The continent of Europe was quiet. Fighting had ceased.

Mexican Outrage on the U. S. and British Consul.—E. Porter, Esq., the U. S. Consul at Tabasco, and the British Consul, were lately attacked by a party of intoxicated Mexican soldiers, who were committing outrages on some Mexican women whom they supposed favorable to the Americans. Mr. Porter remonstrated with them, when they furiously attacked both him and his companion, with knives and bayonets Being well mounted they escaped from the desperadoes. Mr. P. made complaint to Gen. Bruno, the Mexican commander at Tabasco, who made an apology, and ordered the soldiers to Tabasco, and had them punished .- Baltimore Clipper
